Another Big Snowstorm Hits Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The winter-weary Midwest, hit by biting cold and heavy snow for weeks, plowed through another snowstorm today and shivered at the thought of another month until the arrival of spring.
The new storm, moving out of the Rockies across the midlands, appeared to follow the pattern of the weekend storm which dumped up to two feet of snow and sheets of ice across eight states.
Heavy snow warnings, with blowing and drifting, were in effect from eastern Nebraska, southeast South Dakota, Iowa, southern Minnesota, northern Illinois, southern Wisconsin, the northern third of Indiana, southern lower Michigan and northern Ohio.
Below zero weather stung northern Minnesota, North Dakota and Montana. The freezing line extended across most all of the Midwest.
A covering of 10 inches or more was forecast for some areas in Iowa and South Dakota. Falls of 4 to 8 inches were indicated in most other sections. Cleanup operations were slowed as the fresh storm swept eastward.
In Nebraska, many schools called off classes today as drifting snow blocked roads in eastern and central sections. Tuesday night 33 of 41 high school basketball tournaments were postponed.
In South Dakota, about 100 persons and the Augustana College basketball team remained in Vermillion after a game with South Dakota State because of poor visibility caused by blowing snow. It was the second time in three days the team was marooned by a snowstorm, having been forced to remain in Bessford 15 hours Sunday while returning to Sioux Falls from a game in Sioux City, Iowa.
Outside the snow zone, showers dampened southern parts of the Mississippi Valley; snow flurries flecked northern Maine and the southern Plateau region and rain and showers again hit Southern California.

Weaver May Get Welfare Cabinet Job

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said today there is a very good chance Robert C. Weaver soon will become the first Negro Cabinet member—as secretary of welfare. Republicans are publicly urging the move.
Humphrey, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, said he would not be at all surprised if President Kennedy names Weaver to succeed Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff. The senator said Weaver is well qualified for the post.
Ribicoff has announced he expects to campaign in Connecticut this year. Friends have said they have no doubt he will seek the Democratic nomination to oppose GOP Sen. Prescott Bush.
Republicans have accused Kennedy of injecting the racial issue in the controversy over his proposed cabinet-level department of urban affairs by his announcement he would name Weaver, the housing administrator, to head the agency.
With the House expected to kill Kennedy's reorganization plans, there would be no new department for Weaver to head.
In this situation, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois suggested that Kennedy could name Weaver to succeed Ribicoff "and there wouldn't be a Republican vote against him" when his nomination was considered.
Rep. Bob Wilson of California, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, followed this up with a telegram to the President in which he said an announcement that Weaver would succeed Ribicoff would "eliminate completely any suggestion of racism" in connection with the urban affairs proposal.

Strike Halts Algerian Air Traffic

ALGIERS (AP)—Air traffic in and out of Algiers was halted today by a strike of airline personnel protesting a police shooting that killed an airport worker. The strike was spearheaded by the airline Air Algérie but workers of other companies using nearby Maison Blanche Airport answered the 24-hour strike call.
Air Algérie officials said police manning a roadblock Tuesday night fired on one of its service trucks, killing the Moslem driver. The government said police fired after being shot at from another vehicle, and apparently the truck was hit accidentally.
Another strike in Oran affected about 8,000 naval yard and arsenal workers. Their unions decided to halt work for 24 hours to back demands for more protection against terrorism.
Terrorist attacks in Algiers and Oran this morning killed two Moslems and wounded seven other persons.
Two men held up a small bank branch in El Biar, an Algiers suburb, and escaped with the equivalent of almost $3,000. The current rash of robberies has generally been blamed on the terrorist European Secret Army Organization opposed to Algerian independence.

Entire Nation Prayerful, Full of Pride

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Americans of every political shade and social scale were united today in cheering a single man who had carried their hopes to the stars and had written another chapter in the human adventure.
The man was Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr.—an individual of a nation of individuals. He was in his space capsule all alone, but 180 million hearts beat with his, and Americans throughout the land had joined in a single prayer: "Please, God, let him make it."
During the flight business workers, government officials and just plain people dropped everything to follow the proceedings.
Stores emptied. Kitchens were deserted. Telephone conversations were cut down markedly. Schoolchildren were given their current events lesson via television and radio.
In Reno, Nev., gamblers quit the gaming tables.
President Kennedy arose to watch the preparations on a TV set, then phoned Cape Canaveral to make a personal check on the situation.
Congress all but halted its deliberations as legislators watched a portable TV set to see the progress of America's first representative to outer space.
In New York City, 5,000 commuters stood in Grand Central Terminal to watch the rocket firing on a huge television screen. There were shouts of "Thank God" and "He made it" when word was received that Glenn had

Big Year for American Girl Scouts

This is a big year for Girl Scouts throughout the United States as it is their 50th anniversary. The 118 Intermediate and Brownie Scouts in Hope are planning special celebration of the event.
The local Girl Scouts are part of the Conifer Council with headquarters in Texarkana, which includes a 15 county area. This entire group will present a pageant, "Today and In Spirit," in the Texarkana College Auditorium on the last day of Girl Scout Week, March 17.
A number of Girl Scouts from Hope will take part in the pageant which will consist of 1) drama of the growth of Girl Scouting in its first 50 years; 2) Girl Scout songs, games, dances, and demonstrations; 3) American and International folk songs and dances; 4) displays of the four divisions in the Girl Scout program; and 5) a grand procession of American flags and the official Girl Scout flag ceremony.
The U.N. General Assembly on Dec. 12, 1958, first created an 18-member U. N. Committee on peaceful uses of outer space. The assembly acted on U.S. initiative.
The Soviet Union boycotted the committee, however, on the ground it was overloaded with representatives of the West. The committee did not hold an organizational meeting until May 6, 1959, and it was then boycotted by the three Soviet bloc members as well as by India and the United Arab Republic.
In late 1958 the United States and the Soviet Union finally agreed on a new 24-member committee to be composed of 12 Western, 7 Communist and 5 neutral nations.
The Soviets continued to boycott the committee, however, until its life was about to expire last November. The Soviets had insisted on the "troika" system—or equal representation of Communist, Western and neutral nations.
Finally, after nearly two years, the committee met last Nov. 27 and heard the outline of a proposed program by the U.S. delegate.
The Political Committee of the assembly on Dec. 11 approved a program proposed by the 24 members of the space committee. This included the enlargement of the committee to 28 to include Outer Mongolia and three African nations, Chad, Morocco and Sierra Leone. Western sources said majority rule will prevail in the committee and there will be no veto.
The resolution outlined these principles:
Outer space and celestial bodies shall be regarded as free for exploration and use by all nations in conformity with international law and are not subject to national appropriation. International law, including the U.N. charter, shall apply to outer space and celestial bodies;
Outer space launching projects will be registered with the U.N. space committee, and Emphasis in international cooperation will be given to weather forecasting and establishment of worldwide communications systems.
The committee is to meet no later than March 31 to get the international program in operation.

Dick Turnage Announces for Co. Clerk

The Star has been authorized to announce the candidacy of Dick Turnage for re-election to the office of County Clerk. In making his announcement Mr. Turnage issued the following statement:
"To the Citizens of Hempstead County:
"I wish to thank you, the citizens of Hempstead County, for the honor and opportunity of serving as your County Clerk.
"I have tried to the best of my ability to conduct your office in a manner to give you the best possible service at all times.
"In asking you to re-elect me for this capacity, I assure you that I will be ever mindful of the privilege and honor of serving you as County and Probate Clerk. I will do my best to appreciate your vote and support."
Respectfully submitted:
J. D. "Dick" Turnage

German Death Toll is 277

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—Northern Germany's known death toll in last weekend's floods stood at 277 today and officials said it may take weeks to determine the exact number of persons who perished.
German papers listed 316 persons still missing, but Hamburg authorities said some of these people may be staying with relatives or friends, or failed to register with police.

Debt Limit Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has approved and sent to the Senate a temporary $2-billion increase in the national debt limit. The vote was 251 to 144.
Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said the Senate Finance Committee would take it up Feb. 28 and predicted quick passage.
The increase would boost the temporary limit to $300 billion. The Treasury plans to ask for an additional $8-billion increase by June 30.

Crime Topic of Kiwanis Program

Population growth of the United States, along with many of its problems, were discussed before Hope Kiwanis Club Tuesday by John Goodson, deputy prosecuting attorney of Texarkana.
He pointed to an increasing crime record in the U.S. which he said rose 14.2% in 1961 over 1960. The percentage of increase in Arkansas, he said, was 4.5 as compared to the national figure of 14.2.
He said the city of Houston, recorded more rape and murder crimes during 1961 than did all of Arkansas.
Despite higher standards of living, 204,000 persons in Arkansas received surplus commodities during December, and during the same month 63,000 persons in Arkansas received $3,000,000 in welfare grants, Mr. Goodson said.
Paternity Blood Test
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Comedian George Jessel, 63, will submit to blood-group tests for use in the paternity suit against him. Jessel is being sued by actress Joan Tyler, 27. She is demanding he support her daughter, born last Dec. 27. The blood test agreement was made Tuesday in superior court.

Fantastic Space Trip Applauded By World as Mr. Glenn Relaxes

Suggests U. S., Russia Pool Space Venture

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev congratulated America today on Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr.'s orbital flight and suggested that the United States and the Soviet Union pool their resources to explore outer space.
He made his proposal in a message to President Kennedy, quoted by the official Soviet news agency Tass.
Khrushchev said such a joint effort "would be very beneficial to the advance of science and would be acclaimed by all peoples who would like to see scientific achievements benefit man and not be used for cold war purposes and the arms race."
Tass quoted Khrushchev as saying: "I should like to hope that the genius of man, who penetrated the depth of the universe, will be able to find a road to an enduring peace and to ensure prosperity to all peoples on our planet earth which in the space age, though it does not seem to be so large, is still dear to all its inhabitants."
Proposals for international cooperation in space exploration have been advanced at the United Nations since 1958.
The Soviet Union first proposed that the question be put on the agenda of the General Assembly on March 15, 1958.
Six months later the United States brought in its own proposal.
The U.N. Political Committee finally approved a program unanimously last December. U.S. Delegate Charles W. Yost said the approval finally got the United Nations off the launching pad. But nothing has been done so far.
The U.N. General Assembly on Dec. 12, 1958, first created an 18-member U. N. Committee on peaceful uses of outer space. The assembly acted on U.S. initiative.
The Soviet Union boycotted the committee, however, on the ground it was overloaded with representatives of the West. The committee did not hold an organizational meeting until May 6, 1959, and it was then boycotted by the three Soviet bloc members as well as by India and the United Arab Republic.

Bulletin

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A severe weather forecast was issued today for extreme northeastern Texas, southern and southeastern Arkansas, northern Louisiana and northwestern and parts of west central Mississippi.
The forecast:
"Scattered severe thunderstorms with some large hail, locally damaging winds and the possibility of one or two tornadoes are expected to occur Wednesday afternoon from 1 p.m. until 7 p.m. in an area along and 60 miles either side of a line from 40 miles west northwest of Shreveport, La., to 50 miles east northeast of Greenwood, Miss."

Astronaut to Be Honored by President

By HOWARD BENEDICT
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., relaxing after his fantastic space voyage, today began to tell experts about the round-the-world trip and prepared to receive the nation's thanks from President Kennedy Friday.
The President planned to come to Cape Canaveral to greet America's first orbiting space pilot on his return here from his post-flight isolation on Grand Turk Island in the Bahamas.
Kennedy, millions of Glenn's countrymen, and millions more around the globe hailed the new conqueror of the cosmos, who, Tuesday whipped three times around the world in 4 hours 56 minutes in his two-ton Friendship 7 spacecraft.
Glenn was flown to a special hospital on Grand Turk Tuesday after he had been recovered by the U.S. destroyer Noa 22 minutes after his capsule had splashed into the Atlantic Ocean 166 miles from the island.
What the astronaut tells the doctors, scientists, technicians and engineers at Grand Turk and in weeks of briefings to follow will help shape the future course of this nation's space program.
Out of the meetings will come answers to such questions as:
What are man's capabilities and limitations in the weightless world of space?
What changes must be made in the Mercury capsule before astronaut Donald Slayton attempts the next U.S. orbital flight, tentatively in April?
What do the stars and the earth look like from a vantage point in space?
Do weightlessness, isolation, cramped quarters, or other pressures of space flight pose any physical or mental danger?
Glenn conclusively proved on his flight that man is far superior to machine in space. When his capsule developed control difficulty during the first orbit, he assumed partial manual control and maintained command the rest of the mission.
He even rejected a suggestion from ground officials that he be brought down after two orbits because of the trouble. Asked if he wanted to continue, he replied: "Affirmative . . . I'm ready to go."
Project Mercury Operations Director Walter C. Williams explained later that the trouble had resulted because one of 18 gas jets on the capsule surface was plugged. Jet streams of hydrogen peroxide gas spurt through holes to control the altitude of the craft in space. The plugged hole affected movement of the capsule on the yaw—left to right—axis.
Williams said a minor refinement probably would suffice to correct the trouble. But he emphasized that had a human passenger not been aboard, the space craft would have been brought down after one orbit.
"John did a beautiful job," Williams said.
The operations director also explained that a false signal had forced a decision not to jettison the package of reverse rockets after they had ignited and brought the capsule out of orbit.
He said the false signal, caused by some unknown electronic mishap, indicated that an explosive device designed to separate the capsule's heat shield after re-entry into the atmosphere, had ignited prematurely over the Pacific during the second orbit.
To keep the heat shield from

New Hidden Stamp of Space Trip

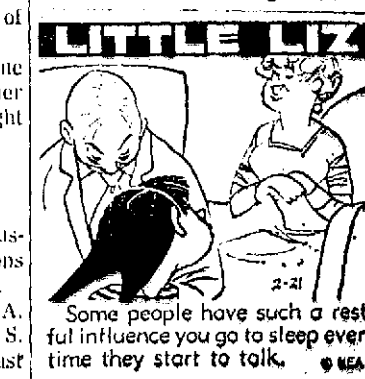

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hidden away in 300 post offices across the country were mysterious sealed packages that carried orders, "Do not open."
The mystery was solved Tuesday. The moment astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. was plucked from the Atlantic as the first American to orbit the earth, the Post Office Department in Washington flashed the word: "open package and sell stamps."
The packages contained a special issue of four-cent stamps commemorating Glenn's flight—a simple blue rectangle with a space capsule, catching the rays of the sun, soaring over the earth. It carries the legend, "U. S. Man in Space," and in capital letters: PROJECT MERCURY.
Demand was instant. More than 70,000 stamps were sold in the first two hours at the philatelic window of the Benjamin Franklin Post Office in Washington.
In New York City the crowds were so large at the philatelic window of the main post office that Postmaster Robert Christenberry ordered general sale at all windows.
In Baltimore and San Francisco some people questioned the fact that the words "U.S. Postage" were omitted from the stamp. E. T. Bucas, Woodland, Calif., stamp collector, called it the greatest philatelic blunder in post office history.
But a Post Office Department spokesman in Washington said it was no blunder, it was intentional. The idea was to emphasize the space flight and it was felt the words "U.S. Postage" were not necessary, he said.
The project, cloaked in secrecy until Glenn's safe landing, was begun months ago by Postmaster General J. Edward Day and his deputy, H. W. Brawley.
Department officials said that the stamp designer worked at home; the engraver came in late at night and worked on weekends; the Bureau of Printing and Engraving cooperated by printing the stamps in a locked press room.
All communications were handled by telephone and word of mouth. Shipping was done on weekends, after postal inspectors had been informed they would receive a package that was not to be opened until the word was given.

Woman Released in Congo Slaying

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Elizabeth Thring was released from custody by a Congolese court today. She had been held in connection with the investigation into the slaying of a U.S. assistant military attaché.
The court placed the 22-year-old blonde from Washington, D.C. into the care and responsibility of the U.S. Embassy.
Miss Thring had been alone with Lt. Col. Hulon Dorris Stogner in his home last Wednesday night when he was shot.

Congratulates Glenn

MOSCOW (AP)—Two Russians have cabled congratulations to Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr.
The Russians are Maj. Yuri A. Gagarin and Maj. Gherman S. Titov, who orbited the earth last year.

falling away too soon, officials decided Glenn had better keep his retro rocket package, with its restraining straps, attached to the capsule.
If the heat shield had dropped off before the capsule encountered the terrific friction of re-entry into the atmosphere, the capsule would have burned up in the 3,000-degree heat.
Williams said officials were certain it was a false signal but did not want to chance unloosing the reverse rocket package until after re-entry.
Glenn reported throughout the flight that he was in excellent physical and mental condition. Doctors confirmed this by reading in-flight instrumentation on his heartbeat, pulse, respiration and temperature.
"I feel fine, wonderful, and I couldn't feel better," Glenn exclaimed on his arrival at Grand Turk.
Dr. Stanley White, director of medical support for Project Mercury, said that Glenn's physical rates — heartbeat, etc. — went up about 50 per cent during the extreme pressure of blastoff and re-entry, but otherwise they were normal.
White said medical experts have been concerned about the possible effect of weightlessness since Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov reported a feeling of nausea during much of his 17-orbit flight last August.
"John reported no discomfort" from weightlessness, White said. "Neither did he become sick after eating in space. He tried different types of foods — paste-like meat and vegetable mixture, fruit squeezed from a bottle and solid malt pills. But there was no adverse reaction."
Throughout the flight, the daring Marine astronaut performed like a test pilot, handling his craft, making observations, keeping a flight log.

All the while, he kept in voice contact with the ground stations of the worldwide Mercury tracking network. From his 100 to 160-mile high vantage point in space he had breath-taking views of the earth stretching 1,800 miles from horizon to horizon.
"Tremendous. A beautiful sight," he described the view below.
Dr. Hugh Dryden, deputy administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, called Glenn's flight "the beginning of the exploration of space. A few years from now we'll look back on the Mercury capsule and think of it as we now think of the Wright Brothers' airplane."
D. Brainard Holmes, director of NASA's manned space flight program, said "we will now fly more extensive and complicated missions." He said three or four more triple orbit missions and at least one 18-orbit manned flight are planned this year.
In leading the accolades for America's new space hero, President Kennedy hailed Glenn as a man of whom the country could be proud.

Suspected of DWI

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Silent film star Ramon Novarro was jailed on suspicion of drunken driving Tuesday night after a collision in the San Fernando Valley.
Officers R. E. Hater and E. E. Jewel said Novarro told them: "I am old and just want to die."
They said Novarro, 63, ran a red light and hit another car. No serious injuries were reported.
House chamber and Senate corridor.
The school board at North St. Paul, Minn., fired off a telegram to Glenn saying it was going to name a new junior high school for him.
Salt Lake City motorists sounded their car horns at announcement of the blastoff.
At Louisville, Ky., the police court was interrupted while a defendant brought forward a TV set. Everybody watched.
Americans of every creed prayed — together or alone audibly or in silence. When it was all over, the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., of which Glenn is a member, sent the astronaut a message which said in part: "Our prayers have not been in vain."

Saylor's Scoring Average Dops

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Ken Saylor of Arkansas Tech dropped another point from his per game average last week but he retained a prohibitive lead in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference individual scoring race.
Saylor is averaging 30 points even in 21 games. He pumped in 41 points against Harding Tuesday night, but that won't show until next week's scoring tally is released by AIC Commissioner Cliff Shaw.
Two weeks ago Saylor's average was over 32. He dropped to 31.2 in last week's report.

Miss Taylor Set to Go to Work

ROME (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor offered to go back to work today, but was given the day off. The American actress instead entertained her parents at her 14-room villa.
Francis Taylor, a London art dealer, and Mrs. Taylor came here Tuesday to see how their daughter felt after being taken to a hospital unconscious Saturday from an attack of food poisoning.

Socrates Had Nothing On This Husband!

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I am a desperate husband striving to retain what little respect I hold for the woman to whom I've been married these 30 years.

Talk about Socrates' wife! I'll match mine against any Xanthippe, past or present. It's "What did you do that for?" "Get going." "Drop dead, you creep," and so on from morning to night, till I'm at my wits' end.

This constant harassment keeps me in a continuous emotional upset and is now preventing concentration on the very job which has provided her and me with security since 1932. Yet, thanks to my work, she's got everything a woman could ask for: home, financial security, luxuries. But does she ever help out, if I ask her to accompany me on business calls? "It's your job, not mine," she'll snap. "Try working at it for a change."

I've always felt that a husband should hold first place in the wife's affections. Not so in our home. I'm just a piece of furniture to be pushed around. Children, relatives, friends, all come before me in my wife's affections. I sometimes think she literally hates me, the way she acts. If it weren't for our daughter's standing in our community—she's a real leader—I'd take severe steps. Today I feel as if I might anyway.

That's why I'm writing you. Is there anything to be done about a wife like mine? —Very Lonely Husband

Dear Very Lonely: Socrates, called the wisest of all men by the poet, Milton, could find no solution to the problem that was Xanthippe. When asked by Diogenes whether it was better to marry or not, he replied, "Whichever you do, you will repent it." If I've hinted as much to our grand- mother but she simply won't believe me. Any advice you offer

400 Lost Lives in German Flood

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — German rescue workers said today floods which ravaged north Germany over the weekend may have claimed more than 400 lives. The official count remained at 232.

Officials said property damage teen-agers who ask the same question: If continuing the friendship means going steady, forget her. Your principal interest in life right now should be school and sports, with a light accent on dating.

Doubts Public Really Likes Commercials

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Although there turn up occasional reports of surveys indicating that the viewers really like commercials, a television columnist must be permitted to doubt their accuracy. This columnist does, largely because so many annoyed, frustrated and angry letters about commercials continually flow in from readers.

One long-standing complaint is that commercials are frequently louder than the entertainment programs surrounding them. This has been denied officially and repeatedly, but my own ears tell me it is true.

Another frequent complaint is the deadly repetition. As one viewer puts it, "Does it make sense for a company to spend thousands of dollars on a program that attracts regular viewers—and then have it repeat, repeat and repeat the same commercial until you want to close your eyes and ears to avoid it?"

He mentions particularly commercials for one headache remedy and several cigarettes. (I'm pretty bored with pictures of draining sinuses, myself, but at the top of my current "turn the darned set off" list is the one with the band marching, for no apparent reason, through a field of tobacco. And those smokers who come up, up, up from a val-

When Johnny Carson moves into Jack Paar's spot next fall, the name of the NBC program will revert to its original one: "The Tonight Show," starring Johnny Carson.

The true measure of Johnny's success will be shown in the speed with which NBC changes the name to "The Johnny Carson Show."

Richard Boone has agreed to make another season of "Have Gun, Will Travel" shows, and Walter Brennan, who was thinking about quitting "The Real McCoys" will take it easier next season, but appear in about half the new episodes. . . Gale Gordon, who has been chosen to replace the late Joseph Kearns as "Mr. Wilson"—he'll play the original's brother—is a very familiar face after all those years of "Our Miss Brooks" re-runs. He was the spultery school principal.

Tournament Time in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's state tournament time in Arkansas again with the girls and the juniors getting a week's march on the senior boys.

Five tournaments start today in five different cities.

Senior boys in Classes A and B come together next week in Little Rock and the Class AAA-AA tournament is scheduled the week after that, also in Little Rock.

Lavaca, last year's runner-up and Waldo, the 1960 winner, are early co-favorites among the Class A girls. England, last year's champ, was eliminated at the district level.

Opening round games tonight at Mulberry send Lavaca against Judsonia at 7 p.m. and Ouachita against McGehee at 8:20.

Defending champion Viola takes the favorite's mantle in the Class B girls' tournament at Parkin where Parkin plays Omaha at 7 p.m., Rosebud meets Huttig at 8:20 and Turrell battles Glendale at 9:40 in opening round games.

No clear favorite is tagged in the Class AA junior boys meet. Games tonight puts Juniors against Jacksonville at 7:30 and Mulvany against Harrison at 8:20.

Marianna, which has lost only once this season, is favored in the Class A junior meet it is hosting. Tonight's games match Marianna and Perryville at 8, Mulberry and Watson Chapel at 9 and Marshall and Piggott at 9:40. Waldo, last year's champ, is not on hand to defend. Marianna won the meet two years ago.

Delight and Portland both take unbeaten records into the Class B junior event at Conway. Host St. Josephs meets Calien Rock at 7, Charleston goes against Gravelle at 8 and Hughes battles Delight at 9 tonight.

Report on Laos

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, heard a report on Laos from Asst. Secretary of State Averill Harriman Tuesday and said later Harriman was hopeful a coalition government would be formed in the war-torn Southeast Asian country. Fulbright said there is a mixed picture in Laos that is not entirely satisfactory.

All Networks Concentrated on Big Flight

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—From spindling launching to folksy wind-up, the three major television networks concentrated Tuesday on the history-making flight of Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. The viewer who watched from dawn's early light until dusk had an exciting if exhausting experience.

The great moments of the day were, of course, the takeoff and landing of the capsule. Unfortunately, after the rocket moved off its pad with a great burst of smoke and flame, there wasn't much the cameras could do in actually covering the flight. But through the five long hours when the capsule was hurtling around the world, TV teams of the three networks—ABC, CBS and NBC—kept the audience glued to their sets.

They supplemented the oral reports from the spaceman himself and Cape Canaveral headquarters with interviews and explanations. They hopped around the country to tracking stations where we heard Co. Glenn's heartbeat and saw a machine drawing a chart of his breathing. We saw the exterior of his home and the home of his parents.

The basic coverage was a pooled network effort, and it was a fine, smooth job. When the launching was held up for a few minutes by a broken nut on the capsule hatch, the cameras were right there with a closeup of the men making repairs.

All through the day, the viewer in his living room felt as if he were in an orchestra seat, except for the landing, when voice reports still kept us fully informed.

The evening news programs were almost entirely devoted to the space shoot. CBS' Douglas Edwards found time for only one non-Glenn item. Both CBS and NBC bumped regular evening entertainment programs to present news specials on the big event. But this reporter, after a TV vigil of over 10 hours, missed them.

Tired eyes.

It was a great day for television and one of which it can be proud.

CBS will drop its morning game show, "Your Surprise Package," next Friday, and next Monday will resume with a soap opera, "The Clear Horizon," which had its original premiere in July 1960.

Notes and Comments on Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene:

There will be no career slowdown for Debbie Reynolds, expecting a baby in September. In fact, she signed on to play a 60-year-old in the final sequence of "How the West Was Won."

She had already done two sequences in the episodic super-

Western and wasn't wild to do another (She had been promised four weeks on the film; it spread to six months). When the studio bosses put the film together, they decided a finale was needed. She agreed to serve—her last act after 14 years under contract to MGM.

Before the 10-day stint, she goes to New York to help husband Harry Karl open 10 shoe stores. After winning the West, she goes to Paramount to make "My Six Loves" under Gower Champion's direction.

Horst Buchholz returned to London to finish "Nine Days to Rama," in which he plays Gandhi's murderer. Before leaving, he reported that his newborn son will have triple citizenship until 21—German for his father, French for his mother, American for his place of birth.

Why was he born here? "Because I like America," said Horst. The actor has no plans to change his own citizenship and will let son Christopher decide about his

Sees Increase in Catholic Religion

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A Catholic educator predicted today that within half a century Roman Catholics will be in the majority in this country.

And then, said the Very Rev. John P. Leary, president of Gonzaga University in Spokane, Wash., the question of federal aid to private and parochial schools will be settled by "the strange accident of numbers and time."

In an interview at the annual convention of the American Association of School Administrators, Father Leary said, "I realize that my belief that there should be support for private schools is a minority viewpoint. But the views I hold are numerically on the rise."

He cited these figures: "In the last five years, one-third of all the children born in this country were Catholic, although the Catholic population is only about one-sixth of the total."

"In 20 years, when this one-third have grown up, they probably will have half of all the children born."

"Within half a century, the Catholics will be a majority in this country."

Father Leary said he believes a qualified and recognized private school, "something akin to the government should pay a subsidy to the family of any child in school."

Father Leary said there was always a hazard that extremist organizations such as the John Birch Society might try to establish such a private school but that "basically, this is strictly a Catholic problem, a problem that is going to disappear within 50 years, although there probably will be a strong minority opposed to federal aid for private and parochial schools."

Overweight occurs almost twice as often among U. S. men as it does among U. S. women.

Velvet Touch in Handling Congress

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is a period in American politics of the presidential velvet touch in handling Congress where members of both parties often mill around like orphans.

President Eisenhower started the smooth and rather soft approach. President Kennedy followed it. This avoidance of head-on clashes and nagging bravado may explain their high standing in public opinion polls.

They might have gotten more from Congress by being tougher. That's a guess. President Truman was tougher but he had troubles. Where he used a constant harpoon, Kennedy employs only a needle, and then infrequently.

The Truman-Eisenhower-Kennedy troubles with Congress have had a single origin and no change is in sight.

All that those who call themselves Democrats have in common, and the same goes for Republicans, is a rubbery party label. Both are split into liberals, middle-roads and the very conservative.

The result is a political mish-mash and a kind of general befuddlement for voters who don't keep records.

If they did, the record would show: The liberals of both parties have more in common than they have with their own conservatives while the latter enjoy a far more instant affinity than they do for the liberals or middle-roads in either party.

In the House the Democrats, overwhelmingly outnumbering the Republicans, could put through any Kennedy program if they voted as a party. But only Sunday House speaker John McCormack acknowledged: Right now Kennedy doesn't have enough votes in the House to avoid rejection of his plan for creating a new department of urban affairs and housing.

He predicted approval for the President's free trade program, federal aid for universities and colleges, and not much chance for Kennedy's program of aid to public schools.

The Republicans, in this congressional election year when their best hope for picking up a few seats is some indication that they know what they stand for, are split among themselves six ways from Sunday.

The difference in their views is just the current example of the American political hash in which party labels mean something only sometimes.

For instance, Arizona's Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater, who is making a career of being a conservative, has more in common with some conservative Southern Democrats than with another leader of his party who has shown more liberal views, New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

It was on Rockefeller that Kennedy recently used one of his infrequent needles when he jibed that he wasn't sure any more that the governor wasn't moving to the right of Goldwater.

Business Idled by Space Flight

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Little Rockians stopped telephoning and shopping today to follow John H. Glenn's orbit flight on television and radio.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. said that between 8 a.m. and 9 a.m., during the period the flight started, the volume of long distance calls was only 68.6 per cent of normal.

The following hour was 83.2 per cent of normal.

Local calls also showed a marked drop. These are fully automatic and a company spokesman said for this reason the percentage of normal could not be quickly determined.

Department stores said morning business was way off.

deductions for only half of their costs of entertaining customers in the financial field, there's stiff opposition to the plan to increase taxes paid by mutual savings banks and savings and loan associations. Other increases are sought in taxation of cooperatives and of mutual fire and casualty insurance companies.

Businessmen planning to spend for new plants and equipment, should profit from the proposed tax credit of up to a per cent on new purchases. Still more businessmen think the real change in the law should be in favor of faster depreciation allowances for all capital assets.

"I was late myself," one manager commented.

He reported seeing a number of women on the street with transistor radio receivers plugged into their ears.

Tax Time in More Ways Than One

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—It's tax time again—both for figuring up what you may owe federal and state governments on last year's income and for federal and many state legislative bodies to debate new rates or new kinds of taxes to hit you with next time.

Congress is worrying out a revision that will affect many businesses and individuals. Legislatures of 16 states will consider tax measures—mostly to increase the take but some, strangely enough, to cut it.

And whatever is finally worked out at the federal and state levels, one thing's for sure. Most government units in the nation will be spending more this year — and looking for more revenue, from one source or another.

Put off as of now until next year is a more general revision of the federal tax laws, with the faint hope of some relief for individuals.

The one now under discussion in Congress which individuals take most interest in is the plan to withhold 20 per cent of dividends and some kinds of interest at source. The Treasury says this will give it a much better idea of the total amount being paid and to whom. It hopes this way to pick up a lot of taxes on income that has gone unreported in the past.

Opposition—that is, that of the open kind—centers mostly on the costs of the withholding and on the deprivation of individuals of this income, which might not be enough to call for a tax, while they wait for months to file for a refund.

Many businessmen are closely watching the Treasury's battle to allow businessmen to claim tax

Porks Outlast Bears With Boyer Leading

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The last place Baylor Bears harried the Arkansas Razorbacks to the wire Tuesday night, but the Porks pulled out a 76-75 Southwest Conference basketball victory.

Nothing was at stake but prestige as Arkansas improved its conference record to 5-6, Baylor 1-10.

Jerry Carlton, ace Hog foul shooter, calmly sank two free throws with 18 seconds left to ice the game for Arkansas. The two points made the score 76-73. A field goal by Baylor's Roy Wolfe with seven seconds left didn't change things. Arkansas froze out the clock.

Carlton played second fiddle to Tommy Boyer in the Razorback scoring department, however. The Fort Smith lad sacked 25 points, 22 of them on field goals.

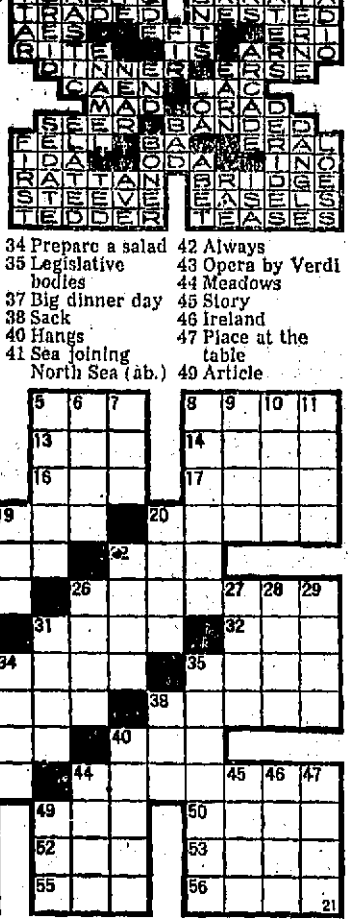

Wolfe's 27 point total was high for the game. Herb Barritt added 25, although he was benched with four fouls through much of the second half.

Show Business Is Rudeness With Money

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — "A movie star is somebody who thinks you're born the minute you walk in a room with him, and you die when you leave."

"You know what show business is. A lot of riff-raff with money and rudeness."

"Into this world there came this big clumsy ox, not too bright, as everybody knows, but completely incapable of rudeness. He'd been hurt so much as a young man that he just couldn't hurt anybody. Anybody said anything to him, he couldn't offend them, he had to answer. That's why he never went to ball games or fights which he loved, because people were always talking to him and he was always answering and he never saw the ball games or fights."

"That's why he backed out of pretty much of public life, and was such a big mystery. He was such a mystery that when 'Confidential' tried to get something on him all they could get was the fact he was shy, and that's not much for a sexy magazine. But you know what he was, really, that made him so great?"

"Clark Gable was a gentleman."
 Charles Samuels (who's doing the talking; is a tough-vocabu-larized, sensitive-souled biographer whose book, "The King," hit the bookstands yesterday. He first met Gable on a Hollywood movie set in 1937, when the big star—driving while drunk with love for his companion Carole Lombard—
 "I wasn't even roughed up or nervous," the writer remembers. "Startled to walk on, but Gable backed up, jumped out of the car, and started feeling my knees to see if I was hurt."

Samuels said the first thing that came to mind: "Don't worry, I won't sue you."

Gable gave him a look "that could melt your bones," and asked "Why not? Maybe I deserve it."

"Because I don't want to be lynched," the writer said.
 "At the time, we thought that was pretty amusing, but it probably was a valid idea. And now that I've found out more about him, I can understand why I would have been lynched. I've written about damn near everybody in my time" (this is Samuels' 13th biography) "and I've never known a man more loved than Gable, and you know why?"

"Because I think we're all hipped on the idea that sex is a big thing, and God knows it is,
 but this man proved to everybody that there was something decent and sound in the world. You might have looked on him as a sex symbol, but he was really a big simple guy with a small town boy's sense of morale, and men loved him as much as women, for that.
 I never knew a man to be mourned more deeply than Gable, except FDR."

Researching Gable's life wasn't easy. He was a mystery because, except for the early 1930s "when he first came to Hollywood, the studios had no interest in him so he shot his mouth off to any fan magazine'd listen." Little was known of the king. He'd been forced, by public pressure, into personal confinement. But Samuels was "lucky" to run across close friends who were willing to talk;
 his biggest break, he says, was finding a woman named Franz Doerfler, who loved and lived with Gable, during his beginning days in Oregon — and who still

Jury Picked for Murder Trial

HEBER SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—
 Selection of a jury for the second degree murder trial of Joe David Spann, 19, began here today.
 Spann, of Cleburne County, is accused of shooting and beating to death his father, Joe H. Spann, 60, of Wilburn, Cleburne County, after a quarrel while the two were hunting deer last Dec. 29.
 The case is being tried before Judge Woody Murray of Harrison in Cleburne Circuit Court.
 The youth was ruled sane after mental tests at State Hospital.

Memphis Hotel Hit by Fire

MEMPHIS (AP)— Fire struck the fashionable Peabody Hotel this afternoon, routing guests and sending smoke billowing up over the downtown area.

A reporter on the scene said
 the blaze broke out in the Louis XVI room on the mezzanine.
 Hotel employees said there was no panic. People were leaving the hotel, but departing in orderly fashion.

The fire knocked out all power to the building.
 Many guests and visitors were watching the dramatic sight of Lt.
 Col. John Glenn on television when their own drama started in the hotel.

Hotel officials said there was no danger to guests as far as they could ascertain.
 Fire trucks sped to the downtown scene and firemen lugging chemical firefighting equipment raced through the lobby.

Traffic was blocked off all around the hotel.

 Arkansas Veterinary Medical Association honored Dr. Thayer D.
 Hendrickson of Little Rock as Arkansas veterinarian of the year
 Monday night at the group's 46th annual convention. Hendrickson is terly newsletter. He is a native of loves him and lives for his memory.

 "All his (five) ex-wives love him. Except Carole, wherever she is."

Samuels is inclined to agree with the legend that Carole Lombard (wife No. 3) was his great love. "She was like a firecracker, shrieking and howling, it was like being married to a three-ring circles, and Gable as a country boy loved circuses. Geez..." The ex-plusive biographer suddenly paused, respectfully. "That must have been something, when she was killed."

After months of research, as the above indicates, Samuels came out with a thorough respect and liking for Clark Gable. "But I don't think he'd have liked me.
 One thing came out strong and clear about Gable — he didn't like a lot of words, he liked a lot of silence. His best friend remembers he and Gable would sit up all night sometimes with a big bottle of whiskey and for a couple of hours, nobody said anything."

"Gable could take a lot of booze, just as he could take a lot of love and a lot of hard luck.
 But not a lot of talk for the sake of talkin'."

BROWNSTONE GOTHIC By ELIZABETH SHENKIN

THE STORY: William Turner, whom Hilda first saw at the skating party, appears at the Russell house, apparently as a friend of Cousin Matthew.
 Chapter 15

Not knowing whether she was annoyed or amused, she said too quickly, "Oh, it's no secret, Cousin Matthew. I'm sure Saunders has already told the whole house how Mr. Turner was holding up my skirt and . . ."

Cousin Matthew gave a crack of laughter. "Here! What's all this, eh? Fine goings-on!"
 Mr. Turner was untroubled.
 "Mrs. Thorne merely caught her heel in her train, and I helped her get it loose. Entirely proper,

 I assure you, whatever the butler
 may have thought."

Hilda sat very straight, and kept her gaze from the visitor.
 "Here's what I wanted to tell you," Cousin Matthew began.
 "Your Uncle George is taking Will on in Fenton's place. But George doesn't really need a secretary the whole day."

"He doesn't?" Hilda interrupted, remembering that Fenton always put in a full day.
 Cousin Matthew ignored the interruption. "So I've fixed it for Will, who's reading for law, and does tutoring on the side, to teach Addie in the afternoons, when your uncle doesn't need him. That way, the boy'll be ready for his class in the fall. Now, how's that?" He eyed Hilda expectantly.

Feeling she'd behaved as sulkily as Jenny sometimes did, Hilda put out both hands. "Cousin Matthew, how kind of you! I can't imagine how you managed it, but I'm delighted, of course. And so will Addie be."

Seeing that all was well, Hilda thought she'd better get back to Jenny. She thanked Cousin Matthew again and turned to go. In one stride, Mr. Turner had opened the door for her.

Mr. Matthew seemed abstracted.
 "Got something else to talk about. Want you to do something confidential for me, if you're willing."

Will stretched out his long legs to the fire. "So long as it's not downright dishonest, I don't think I'll worry."

"No," Mr. Matthew chuckled.
 "You don't look like the worrying kind, exactly. That's why I decided to talk to you." He was silent and then asked suddenly, "You know what happened to Fenton?"

"Yes, sir," Will answered. "Mr.
 Russell told me he was killed by street bullies."

"Maybe."
 The old man looked undecided.
 "Police don't doubt it. The Russells don't doubt it. But . . . "He stopped and looked at Will sideways. "I happen to know what the police told George Russell and Race Nash—I'll tell you about him later—but . . ."

"I've heard of Horace Nash,"
 Will interrupted.
 "Oh, you have? Then that should be enough said. Anyway, the noliceman said Fenton died talking about Midgey, the bookkeeper, and some book. Race fobbed the officer off with that quick tongue of his. But the whole thing seems mighty strange."

"In what way, sir?"
 "Don't know. But, don't forget,"
 Mr. Matthew wagged a crooked finger, "the Russell money is big money. And where there's money like that, I don't have to tell you,
 there are always plenty who'd rob,
 bribe or even murder. 'Specially,
 if they thought they could get a record of market tips, straight from what they'd think was the inside."

Will thought for a moment. "I never knew the Russell money was in the market much," he remarked.
 "Tisn't its real estate, mostly. But some money has to be invested, of course. And people don't know as much as they think they do. That's why if someone was after Fenton for information
 . . . if he'd made a deal and welched . . . " He made a throat-cutting gesture with one finger.

"Seems rather extreme."
 "Maybe. But there was something crooked about Fenton. Fond of the bottle, too. Fact is, he'd gotten into George's whisky the night he was killed. He was sent home in a hansom, drunk as a coyote. And listen to this," Mr.

 Matthew leaned forward. "The hansom was followed down the street by a Gypsy."

Will burst out laughing. He saw that Mr. Matthew was offended and tried to break off.
 "Excuse me," he said, wiping his eyes. "But you must admit it sounds like a penny dreadful."

 "Yes. Who saw him, if you must know, was your Mrs.
 Thorne!"

"Thank you for the compliment, but I'm sure the lady is quite her-own." Will grinned. "Come now, sir. You're testing me out, seeing how big a goose egg I'll swallow

Isn't that it?"
 "Your father would've swallowed that Gypsy, whole."
 Will laughed. "Then, it was a hoax?"

The old man shook his head.
 "Believe what you like. I'll not say another word. Just keep your eyes peeled, that's all."

Prospects for Urban Bill Dim

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — Prospects were dim for early approval of President Kennedy's urban affairs proposal as Congress resumed a regular work schedule today.

The administration apparently faces at least a week's delay in a Senate test of the controversial plan to create a Cabinet-level urban department.

In the House, the situation was even gloomier for supporters of the plan. Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., acknowledged Sunday in a television interview that the administration does not have sufficient votes at this time to approve it.

Administration leaders feel the Senate eventually will approve the reorganization proposal, but plans to begin debate today apparently have gone by the boards.

The House Agriculture Committee hears today from Secretary Orville L. Freeman on the administration's sweeping new farm program and House tax writers begin a last round of discussions of Kennedy's tax revision proposals.

On the Senate side, a special Armed Services subcommittee resumes its investigation of government censorship practices. The Foreign Relations Committee may conclude today its public hearings on Kennedy's call for U.S. purchase of half a $200-million U.N. bond issue.

Kennedy's urban affairs proposal has run into a snag in the Senate in the person of Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark. The Government Operations Committee he heads concluded its hearings Friday, but McClellan says he had no plans to call it into session today to take final action.

To force a showdown and a committee vote the administration could move to discharge the committee. Few thought the administration would want to take on McClellan in any such battle.

Hill to Take Over at USC

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jess Hill, director of athletics at the University of Southern California, will assume the job of track coach until a replacement is found for Jesse P. Mortensen, who died Monday.

Hill succeeded Dean Cromwell as USC track coach in 1949 and in two years won two national championships. He became football

LADY-IN-WAITING — Crown Princess Beatrix of The Netherlands waits in her plane at Frankfurt, West Germany, while airport officials hunt a suitable ramp. Prince Karl of Hessa, back to camera, offers words of apology for delay.

Mrs. Shepard Felt About Same

DERRY, N.H. (AP) — Mrs. Alan B. Shepard Sr., the mother of America's first astronaut, said today she had just about the same feelings watching John H. Glenn Jr. rocket into space as when she saw her son blast off.

"This seems a completion of a wonderful event" started when her son, Alan B. Shepard Jr., took America's first space ride, Mrs. Shepard said.

"It's just remarkable," she added. Glenn "is over Africa right this minute. How wonderful for this country."

Mrs. Shepard said she and her husband awoke early and stationed themselves in front of a television set in the living room of their colonial home in this town where young Alan grew up.

"We heard Alan's voice talking with Glenn," Mrs. Shepard said. "I met John Glenn about three years ago. He is a very fine young man."

"We're just excited and delighted," she added.

coach in 1951 and served until 1957, when he was named director of athletics.

Hill agreed Monday to take over the track job on a temporary basis.

Uncertain Peace in B. Guiana

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP) — An uncertain peace settled on this tropical capital today after a siege of rioting, looting and burning. Labor leaders called off their general strike against leftist Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan, but his East Indian followers were reported plotting reprisals in the hinterlands.

British armed forces, hurriedly flown from Jamaica and London on appeal from Jagan, were braced for trouble, although fire-blackened Georgetown was quiet.

Racial tensions between Negroes and East Indians ran high after rioting Negro mobs burned a half-mile square of Georgetown's business center and its East Indian stores last Friday. The rioting left six dead, scores injured and $11 million property damage.

Jagan, an East Indian himself, gets most of his support from East Indian farmers and workers outside Georgetown. Negroes generally support Forbes Burnham, leader of the People's National Congress party, whom Jagan defeated in last August's election.

Tensions relaxed somewhat Sunday night, with the announcement of labor leaders that they had called off their week-long strike.

The back-to-work call came after the union leaders met three and a half hours with Jagan. One negotiator said Jagan agreed to a series of demands.

A terse radio announcement said the unions, grouping civil servants, government employees and primary schoolteachers, had asked them to return to work with the Trade Union Council also recommending its 12,000 strikers to resume work.

Civil servants and teachers struck for higher wages. The Trades Union Council protested Jagan's plans for higher import taxes and a compulsory savings scheme which the council claimed hurt workers more than the rich.

A Trades Union Council announcement said Jagan promised to impose price controls to prevent importers from passing on duties to consumers and to consider the replacement of the compulsory savings program with a voluntary savings scheme.

Observers said, however, the strike basically was against the leftist leanings of Jagan.

Questioning Powers Can't Prove Much

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Public quizzing of Francis Gary Powers, after the government finishes questioning him, might make headlines for a few days but probably wouldn't illuminate or prove much.

There have been some persistent questions about the case of the 32-year-old pilot whose spy plane was downed while on a flight over Russia May 1, 1960.

Did a Russian rocket bring him down? Why didn't he destroy his plane to keep it and its equipment out of Russian hands? Why did he admit his guilt so readily at his trial?

Powers already has answered some of them. President Kennedy has put a limit on how much he can say publicly.

The government has been questioning Powers, with the press kept away, since the Russians released him and he returned here over a week ago after serving 21 months of a 30-year sentence for spying.

Once the government has finished, Kennedy said last week, Powers "will give whatever information would be in the national interest to give." This limits what he can answer.

There's been talk, but nothing said, about a further congressional investigation. The chairman of a couple of Senate committees have expressed interest in digging deeper into his case. Some other senators are reluctant.

When Powers' plane started down, 1,200 miles inside Russia, merely carrying out orders. So he was supposedly flying at altitudes made it clear 60,000 feet, or 12 miles. There their main purpose was to deliver a rocket good enough to bring him down from that height.

After Powers' Moscow trial in Pravda published a letter it said he had been who should have

Arizonian in Congress 50 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Carl Hayden, who swapped his Western sheriff's badge for a seat in Congress five days after Arizona became a state, today becomes the first man to serve as a member of Congress for 50 years.

The 44-year-old Democrat, third in line of succession to the presidency, was sworn into the House of Representatives Feb. 19, 1912. After 15 years as Arizona's only representative in the House, Hayden moved to the Senate in 1927.

Today he is dean of the Senate and the Congress. However, he is little known outside Washington because he resolutely shuns publicity and rarely speaks in public.

Hayden was asked in a recent interview to name his greatest accomplishment.

"I just can't do it," he said. "A man does one piece of work one time, another piece of work, and then another. To look back 50 years and say one thing is more important than another is something I can't do."

Hayden, an expected candidate this year for his seventh six-year Senate term, attributes his Congressional contribution to Western development to "a theory I had when Arizona was still a territory."

"When I got here, the territory had just become a state and it had many problems and needs," he said. "I asked for committees that could be most helpful in that killed himself or kept silent at his trial, he might ask himself honestly: what would I have done in Powers' place?

Some men bend more easily under pressure than others. Some are extraordinary in resistance to it. There's nothing in Powers' known record to suggest he was ever extraordinary in anything, from school on up.

regard, and I got them because there was little demand from others for them."

Hayden, a tall, lean, bald man who smokes cigars, is president pro tempore of the Senate, a position that goes to the member of the majority party who has served longest. This puts him third in line to the presidency behind Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Speaker of the House John McCormack.

When Hayden moved to the Senate in 1927, he was assigned to the Committee on Appropriations—he became its chairman in 1955—and the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads.

Specializing in roads, Hayden deplored the lack of a definite plan for a network of roads covering the whole United States. He recalls that he told state highway commissioners meeting in Washington to go home and work out plans for a national system.

"They did that," Hayden said. "And the result is the fine system we have today."

Hayden identifies as his biggest piece of unfinished business the authorization and construction of a billion-dollar federal irrigation project for central Arizona.

a total of $15,361 for the year. Phil Rodgers, who won at Tucson, jumped a notch in the standings—from third to second. His $2,800 victory check gave him a total of $13,633. Arnold Palmer is third with $12,425.

Nixon and Ike Are Rained Out

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Rain at Palm Desert's Eldorado Country Club washed out a planned golf match Monday between former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Nixon and his wife, Pat, flew home after spending the weekend with the ex-president and his wife, Mamie.

UN Rebuff Handed Cuba Communists

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The General Assembly today handed Cuba and the Communist bloc another rebuff by rejecting a last-ditch move to get U.N. action on Prime Minister Fidel Castro's charges of U.S. intervention.

The vote was on a mild resolution introduced by Outer Mongolia which made no direct reference to the Cuban complaint, but simply called for friendly relations among countries and recognized the right of self-determination.

U.S. Delegate Francis P. T.

Plimton called it a trick and declared it would give undue dignity to the Cuban charges, which he called "crude, defamatory and false."

The vote was 37 in favor, 46 against and 18 abstaining. The proposal picked up substantial support from the Asian-African group, but fell far short of the required two-thirds majority. All 19 of the Latin-American countries except Cuba stood together with the United States in opposing the resolution.

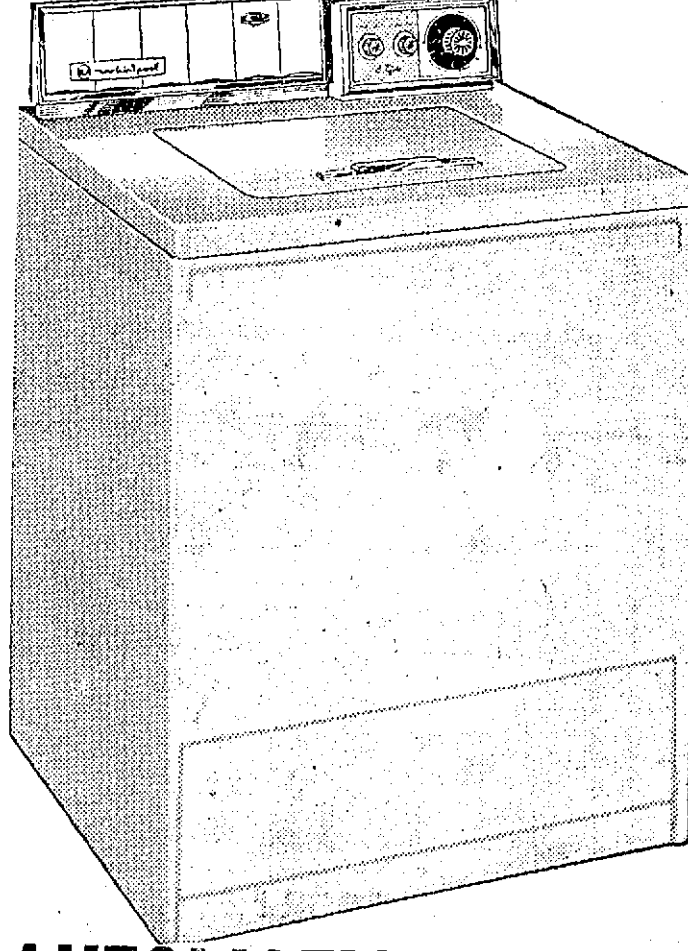

Outdoor telephone booths in the United States now number about 158,000, twice as many as in 1956. Bacteria reproduce by simply pinching themselves in two. Some bacteria can reproduce every 15 minutes in this fashion.

Proposal for Dam Bitterly Opposed

By JOHN JUTTON

POCAHONTAS, Ark. (AP) — Sheriff Earl Chester declared here today that "there will be no peace in Water Valley" until the bitterly-contested proposal for a dam on Eleven Point River is settled.

Chester, an opponent of the proposed dam, told the U. S. Engineers in a packed hearing room that "some times, we're too prone to think of the dollar before the people."

Vernon Gaines, who favors the dam, said there had been threats and intimidation from a small group of opponents. He didn't elaborate.

He said that the Water Valley Reservoir Association has more than 3,000 members who advocate construction of the proposed dam for flood control, electrical power and recreation.

Before the hearing — first of a pair — opened, opponents distributed circulars charging that the Engineers had "rigged" the session in favor of the dam's advocates.

An Engineer spokesman said there was nothing to the charge. Eleven Point River flows through Water Valley, from which the Water Valley Reservoir Association gets its name.

Appearing for the proponents, Gaines submitted several resolutions from communities backing the project.

Carl R. Noren of the Missouri Conservation Commission said his group was unilaterally opposed to the dam. Noren said there is a "great need to preserve free flowing streams of the Ozark region." The preservation of the streams, he said, represents sound resource planning.

The second hearing will be held at Dalton, 17 miles northwest of Pocahontas, Wednesday.

The 300-person capacity court room, being used for the hearing, was jammed long before the hearing started and the overflow spilled out into the courthouse corridors.

The crowd began arriving more than two hours before hearing time.

Opponents passed out circulars declaring that "this hearing has been rigged to favor Water Valley proponents. . . the U.S. Engineers have arbitrarily and purposely arranged this hearing so that the dam proponents will be allowed to speak first without time limitations. . . the U.S. Engineers hope you will wear out and leave before we are allowed to present our case."

The circulars urged that all opponents attend the second hearing at Dalton Wednesday.

For the proponents, Joe S. Deck, of Pocahontas, president of the Water Valley Reservoir Association, said he was confident the dam would be approved.

The Engineers said that both proponents and opponents will be allowed to speak at both hearings.

However, Pocahontas interests generally favor the plan while the opposition centers mainly at Dalton and other rural areas.

After the hearings are over, the Engineers will study and evaluate the testimony and continue their own investigations.

Eventually, they will recommend for or against the proposed dam. The Eleven Point River runs for about 30 miles down this valley from the Missouri border to the point where it joins the Black

Youths Questioned About Stolen Truck

PARIS, Ark. (AP)—Two teen-aged boys were being returned here today for questioning about a pickup truck stolen at gunpoint from a farmer.

The North Little Rock youths were picked up in the missing truck near Bossier City, La., a suburb of Shreveport Sunday night, Sheriff E. Carter said.

River southwest of Pocahontas. A dam for flood control purposes was approved in 1930 by the federal government, but nothing has been done to initiate construction.

Now part of the population wants a hydro-electric dam which would furnish power as well as provide flood control. But such a dam would create a lake 30 miles long and five miles wide. It would reach 10 miles in Oregon County, Mo.

About 635 people would have to be relocated because of the lake, and fishermen, farmers and cattlemen make up the bulk of the anti-dam faction.

Those for the dam and against it have set up two rival groups — the Water Valley Reservoir Association (for) and the Upper Eleven Point River Association (against).

In addition to flooding valuable farm and cropland and ruining fishing, the anti-dam segment says, the project would be a $30 million waste of taxpayers' money.

The Water Valley Reservoir Association, which has the backing of several chambers of commerce in the surrounding area, said a dam would draw more industry and help curb the area's loss of population.

AP&L Official Dies in Calif.

PACIFIC PALISADES, Calif. (AP) — Alfred G. Whidden, 79, the first advertising director of Arkansas Power and Light Co., died here Sunday.

Whidden joined AP&L in 1920 at Pine Bluff as advertising and publicity manager. He retired company in 1947.

He was editor of the Pine Bluff Graphic from 1914 to 1920 and had worked on newspapers in Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas.

Survivors include his widow and one daughter.

Owens, a farmer who lives 11 miles southeast of Paris, reported two youths leveled their rifles on him and took his pickup truck Saturday while he was feeding cattle.

Owens reported one youth had a .30 caliber rifle and the other a .22 caliber. Carter said the guns answered the description of two stolen from the Huckleberry Mountain forestry tower Friday.

The youths, one 15 and the other 16, have been reported missing from their homes since Friday. They were picked up 10 miles west of Shreveport on an alert issued by the Arkansas State Police for a stolen truck. Shreveport officers reported they found two rifles in the truck when they arrested the youths and put them in the Bossier City jail.

Editors Try to Improve Press Service

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Managing editors of newspapers throughout the country are engaged in a unique undertaking to improve their cooperative news service "The Associated Press" — and their own newspapers.

This program is carried out, to a large extent, by the continuing study committees of the national organization, The Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

Continuing study committee members from Arkansas include Jimmy Atkinson of the Pine Bluff Commercial and Gene Herrington of the Arkansas Democrat, Little Rock.

Specific committees study such matters as AP foreign and domestic news, newsphotos and feature services. Specialized coverage in science, education, women's news, business news and sports is watched by editors assigned to those fields.

Ideas are supplied for special stories, roundups and features. AP coverage in the foreign field is compared with other media, with emphasis on close liaison with the AP staff from day to day and week to week.

In addition to the committees relating directly to the services of The Associated Press, the APME also has several committees en-

Rockefellers Donating 'Artmobile'

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Officials of the Arkansas Arts Center said today Winthrop and David Rockefeller and the Barton Foundation of Arkansas are donating an "artmobile" to the sector.

The mobile art museum which is under construction and expected to be completed later this year will be used to carry noted works of art throughout the state.

Cost of the artmobile, along with funds to provide preparatory films and recordings to interpret the exhibition, is being borne by the Rockefeller brothers and the foundation.

Mrs. Muriel B. Christison, consulting director of the Arkansas Arts Center, is now in New York selecting paintings to be included in the exhibition.

Among artists expected to be represented are Hobbema, Ruissdael, Peter De Hooch, Jan Steen, Molenaer, Jan Weenix, William van de Velde.

Canvases will be from the internationally known Chrysler collection which supplied the first touring exhibition in Virginia several years ago.

gaged in fields of general professional interest, including Freedom of Information, Journalism Research and Personnel.

Chaffee to Be Kept on Active List

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ft. Chaffee, Ark., will be kept on active duty, President Kennedy assured Arkansas and Oklahoma members of Congress today.

The President "made the categorical statement it will not be closed," Rep. Carl Albert, D-Okl., reported after the group met with Kennedy at the White House.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., added, "I don't think he ever intended to close it."

Fulbright and Albert, the House Democratic leader, along with Sens. Robert S. Kerr and A. S. Mike Monroney, Oklahoma Democrats, and Rep. James W. Trimble, D-Ark., arranged the meeting with Kennedy after the Army Times published a report that the camp would be shut down.

Ft. Chaffee is near Fort Smith, Ark. It is in Trimble's congressional district.

Fulbright said about 17,500 men Winthrop Rockefeller is chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission and his wife heads the board of trustees of the art center.

David Rockefeller is president of Chase Manhattan Bank in New York and is a major art collector. The Barton Foundation was established by the late Col. T. H. Barton of El Dorado.

Team Leaves the Court, Forfeits

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Jacksonville University won a basketball game from Belmont Abbey 2-0 after the North Carolinians left the court and failed to return.

The game was declared forfeited at the end of a five-minute waiting period Monday night. The score was tied at 69-all with 8:32 remaining in the game when Coach Al McGuire and his players walked slowly off the court amid jeers from the crowd of 2,000.

McGuire had criticized officials several times and both teams engaged in a show of fistcliffs before the departure. Belmont Abbey led most of the game.

are stationed there now. The 78,000-acre army post was re-opened as a training center last fall as part of the military buildup precipitated by the Berlin crisis. In World War II it was an armored division training center.

Kennedy referred to the re-activation of Chaffee in an airport speech at Fort Smith last October when he stopped there en route to a road dedication ceremony in Oklahoma.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., was prevented from participating in the conference by the Senate's debate on the president's proposal for an urban affairs department. The others said they relayed to the President McClellan's request that the post be maintained.

Memorable Day - He Became 51

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Something happened to me today that maybe shouldn't happen to a dog—and never has.

I became 51 years old. The day was made memorable by a birthday card from my 74-year-old mother in Kansas City, who is quietly proud of the fact that the five children she bore are still alive—all are over 40—ulcer-free and able to enjoy three meals a day.

Her card said "Congratulations on your birthday," and added in rhyme: "There are many delights, great and small, but the best in life is to share it all." That is so typical of Mama I didn't know whether to chuckle or cry. Whenever she gives one of her offspring a pat on the back, she also tosses in a bit of whole-some advice, figuring it won't do his immortal soul any permanent harm. Some firm lost a great personal executive when Mama turned from the world of business to the business of washing diapers and wiping runny noses.

There are some who might regard being 51 as a major disaster, but no birthday can be totally dismal to a man so long as the woman who gave him life can share that milestone with him, even though she be half a continent away.

This alone, though all the rest of his world were gray, should be enough to stir a boundless gratitude in his heart. No man ever walks companionless while his mother lives.

Actually, however, I find a great deal to be cheerful about at 51, and life is looking up.

Some months ago a Harvard professor pointed out that the "Frantic Fifties" were perilous years for many men troubled by frustration, disappointed dreams, hectic living and the fear of advancing age.

Much as I hate to disagree with anyone from Harvard, I think more men go into a spiritual nose-dive at 40 than at 50. Women do, too, even though they get a few years of grace—as they don't usually turn 40 publicly until privately they've reached 45.

A person at 40 is often a middle-aged adolescent, feeling as lost and lonely as a rebellious teenager, a stranger in a suddenly strange world.

But at 50 a second dawn comes. One who escapes the black tunnel of the forties is like a prisoner released from a 10-year solitary confinement. When I turned 50, I felt born anew. I wanted to throw my hat in the air like a school-

Hospital Needs Paying Patients

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State Sen. Robert Harvey of Swifton said today more paying patients are needed to put the University Medical Center on a firm economic base.

Harvey, who drew up the 1959 Patient Quota Act now used in controlling the admission of indigent patients from various sections of the state to the hospital, said "The medical profession has been one of the problems. A great many of them are opposed to taking paying patients into the medical center and they say you are competing with them when you take paying patients in there."

Notice was given by the center to Little Rock, North Little Rock and Lonoke County Monday that special authorization will be required before indigent patients will be accepted the remainder of the month.

Center officials said similar notices may be sent to other cities during the next few days. They were the first issued under the Patient Quota Act.

The act directs the center to establish monthly patient quotas for all 75 counties and all cities of 10,000 or more.

R. Kennedy in Rome for Visit

ROME (AP)—U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy arrived today for a two-day visit during which he will have a private audience with Pope John XXIII and see top Italian governmental leaders.

The U.S. Embassy described Kennedy's visit here as private, but said he will make courtesy calls on Prime Minister Amintore Fanfani, Foreign Minister Antonio Segni and Justice Minister Guido Gonella before leaving for Berlin Thursday. Kennedy's appointment with the Pope is for Wednesday.

Kennedy was accompanied by his wife, Ethel, presidential adviser Arthur Schlesinger Jr. and a party of 15 on the flight here from Bangkok, Thailand, via Beirut, Lebanon.

boy—and would have, except that at 50 you aren't supposed to do things like that.

Being 51 is even better. But, of course, there are limits to the joy. There are times, as you get deeper into middle age, when the days "crawl" by on crutches and the years whiz by on wheels.

That's one of the tricks time plays on you.

Thinks Movie Wrong About U. S. Mothers

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Nine Japanese housewives are beginning to think they have seen too many American movies.

"We discovered to our great surprise that mothers and children are very close and that great emphasis is put on the importance of family life," said Mrs. Tomono Kudo, leader of a study team from Hokkaido Province.

The women are on a tour of the United States to study a great American problem—the family budget.

"We have visited a number of American homes, three in San Francisco and two in Los Angeles," Mrs. Kudo said through an interpreter Monday.

"Maybe we had seen too many high life movies but we thought American mothers were not so close to their families as they are."

The women started their Houston visit by delving into the mysteries of the charge account. They visited a bank, a downtown department store, a supermarket, a discount house and Houston's largest shopping center.

Mrs. Kudo said Japanese and American women have a common problem—keeping up with the Joneses.

More Asked for Superior Skills

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sends a message to Congress today giving details of a new pay plan for federal workers—including more money for superior skills.

Kennedy presumably will follow recommendations of a presidential panel which reported Feb. 14. The plan urged that skilled government employees be paid the equivalent to what workers outside government get for the same kind of work.

The civil service, postal and foreign services were pointed out as needing such a payroll reform.

Steel Talks Continue

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Steel contract negotiations resumed talks today on economic matters in efforts to reach the earliest, basic steel settlement in history.

Bargaining teams concluded preliminary work Monday and started discussions on the all-important issue of money. They set March 1 or before as a target date for signing a new agreement.
